GOVERNOR SENDS SPECIAL MESSAGE

Recommendations to The Legislature.

Urges That Some Disposition Be Made of State's Interests In Mattamuskeet Railroad—State Institutions Not In Satisfactory Condition—Bill to Increase Governor's Salary Made Special Order For Next Wednesday.

Raleigh, Jan. 20.—One of the features of today's session of the legislature was a special message from Governor Kitchin, transmitting a report from the State Board of Internal Improvements. It recommends that some disposition be made of the State's interest in Mattamuskeet Railroad to protect the state's investment of $100,000 for convict labor, the value of this stock being "problematical."

The message through the report of the Board of Internal Improvements represented that the state's interest in the North Carolina Railroad is not in the best possible condition, but expressed a doubt of its being possible for the General Assembly to do anything to remedy the matter under the lease conditions to the Southern. The state's interest in other roads were represented to be very satisfactory condition.

The report represented the state institutions not to be in wholly satisfactory condition and it was recommended that their needs for new buildings be investigated. Also that the state tuberculosis hospital receive the most liberal support possible and that the state school for the blind be removed from its present location to more ample grounds without the corporate limits of Raleigh. The report also urged the enlargement of the state institutions.

The Senate.

The senate met at 11 o'clock, President Pro Tem Pharr presiding and Rev. Mr. Eubanks offering prayer.

Senator Graham, of Orange, announced that through the kindness of Mr. A. B. Andrews, Jr., he had obtained a copy of the report of the state tax commission of 1886 and would turn it over to the committee on propositions and grievances, which has under consideration the resolution to print 1,000 copies of the report.

The senate received a large number of bills from the house, including one for the protection of employees as members of labor organizations, another prohibiting state officials and senators and representatives in Congress from this state from accepting fees to prosecute claims against North Carolina and another raising the age limit for working on the public roads from 18 to 21 years. Also a joint resolution to move an old house belonging to the state at the intersection of Salisbury and Morgan streets.

Bill to Increase Governor's Salary.

Senator Gardner's bill to increase the governor's salary from $4,000 to $6,000 annually, effective at the expiration of Governor Kitchin's term of office, was reported favorably by the committee on salaries and fees and Senator Gardner urged its passage. On motion of Senator Bassett it was made special order for next Wednesday at 11:30 o'clock.

Prohibit Shipping Quail Out of the State.

Senator Hartsell, of Cabarrus, introduced a bill prohibiting trapping and shipping live quail out of the state and asked for its immediate passage. Senator Baggett objected and in the midst of the debate a similar bill was received from the house. It passed by a vote of 34 to 2.

New Bills Offered.

Hobgood, of Guilford: Regulate securities making deposits.

London, of Chatham: Relative to assault and battery on females.

The Income Tax Special Order.

The joint resolution ratifying the 16th amendment to the United States constitution empowering Congress to lay and collect a federal income tax came up as a special order and extended arguments favoring it were made by Senators Barnes and Graham, but before the latter concluded the special order was on motion of Senator Bassett displaced until next Tuesday at 12 o'clock, when Senator Graham will resume his argument.

The House.

Speaker Dowd convened the House at 11 o'clock. Prayer by Representative Williams, of Swain county.

Long, of Alamance, sent forward a petition from his county for a state-wide bill prohibiting the sale of near beer. Also a petition to Congress to prohibit the liquor into prohibition territory. A petition came through Latham, of Beaufort, from ladies of Bell Haven against the sale of liquor by clubs.

New Bills.

Moring, of Pitt: Amend marriage laws as to age.

Dillard, of Guilford: Prevent shipment of live quail out of the state. The bill was passed under suspended rules.

B. Y. P. U. SPEAKERS

In the lecture room of the First Baptist church last night there were two very strong addresses on the Baptist Young People's Union, the speakers being Rev. W. C. Barrett, pastor of the Second Baptist church of Durham and president of the B. Y. P. U. work in this state, and Mr. Arthur Flake, of Mississippi, secretary of the B. Y. P. U. work of the Southern Baptist Convention.

There was a good attendance and much interest manifested in the helpful words of the speakers. Rev. J. C. Turner, pastor of the church, introduced Messrs. Barrett and Flake.

Mr. Barrett gave a statement showing the progress of the B. Y. P. U. work in the State, discussing the work in its general outlines. Mr. Flake, who is a specialist in the B. Y. P. U. work, went into details showing how to reduce the work to actual practice. He is a very fluent talker and electrified his audience with his vigorous exposition of the purposes and methods of the Baptist Young People's Union.

Messrs. Barrett and Flake go to Wingate today and will speak there tonight. Tomorrow they will be in Charlotte. They are making a tour of the State in the interest of the work.

SUPERIOR COURT.

Several Small Cases Taken up and Disposed of Yesterday.

In Guilford Superior court yesterday the case of Seaborn R. Jones vs. Life Insurance Company of Virginia a verdict was returned in favor of the defendant. In the case of E. E. Bain vs. J. A. Jackson the plaintiff was given judgment in the amount of $33.

In the case of Alice Edwards vs. Life Insurance Company of Virginia a motion to nonsuit was sustained. The plaintiff was the beneficiary of a policy held by Alex Edwards in the company. A brother of Edwards qualified as administrator and intervened, seeking to have the policy paid to himself. The company paid the money into court, being uncertain as to whom the money should be paid. The court in nonsuiting the case held that the beneficiary was the person to whom the money belonged. An appeal to the Supreme court was taken.

In the case of the Central Carolina Construction Company vs. Edward Fann, Jr., a verdict was returned awarding the plaintiff the amount asked for. The suit was to recover damages on account of the failure of the defendant to carry out a contract.

Runaway Wedding.

Last evening at 8:15 o'clock in the parlors of the Hotel Clegg Mr. David-Holland and Miss Emma Bryant, both of Monroe, Va., were united in marriage, the ceremony being performed by Justice D. H. Mr. and Mrs. Holland spent the night at the Clegg and will leave this morning to visit relatives in Pikesville, N. C., before returning to Monroe. Mr. Holland formerly lived here, being for a time night steward of the Clegg hotel.

INSPECTION OF STATE TROOPS

Annual Examination of Several Companies.

Greensboro Company to Be Inspected on April 5—"Rev. Mack" Is Caught In Virginia on Charge of Kidnapping Raleigh Negro's Baby—Charters Issued—Considerable Interest In Proposed Highway Across State.

Raleigh, Jan. 20.—Announcement is made from the office of Adjutant General R. L. Leinster, of the North Carolina National Guard that the annual inspection of the companies composing the Guard will begin with the Raleigh company February 14 and close with Waynesville. Some of the more notable dates are Charlotte, April 3; Greensboro April 5; Wilmington April 7; Durham March 8 and Asheville March 24 and 25. There is no announcement yet as to who will represent the United States war department in these inspections. The state will be represetned by Col. Thos. Stringfield, of Waynesville, inspector general of the North Carolina Guard.

The senate and house committees on counties, cities and towns had a further hearing this afternoon on the proposition to establish Avery county out of portions of Mitchell and Caldwell. The claims of each side were ably presented and a committee was appointed to examine the bill as to its form and legality and report back to the committees next Thursday.

All along the route of the proposed "Central Highway" from Beaufort to Marshall great interest is being awakened in the project and a big crowd of good roads advocates will be in Raleigh February 14th to attend a convention of delegates from all the counties it traverses. Many responses are being received to the invitation to the convention issued by the Wake County Good Roads Association and the prospects point to one of the best good roads meetings ever held in the State. The idea of having a great "Central Highway" from the ocean to the mountains has the endorsement or organizations in cities and towns along the proposed road and those behind the movement believe that with the proper co-operation the road can be built. The county officials and mayors of all cities and towns along the route are urged to appoint delegates to this convention and send names to Dr. J. M. Templeton, president of the Wake County Goods Roads Association, Cary, N. C.

Charters were issued today for the Babcock Lumber Co., Clinton, capital $10,000, by W. B. Babcock and others. And for the Maxton Supply Co., of Maxton, Robeson county, capital $25,000 for mercantile business by J. W. McQueen and others. There was also an amendment for the Peoples Savings and Trust Co., of Randleman, changing the name to the Peoples Bank.

Governor Kitchin issued a requisition today on the governor of Virginia for Emma Green, alias "Rev. Mack" who is held in Martinsville, Va., for Raleigh authorities to answer the charge of kidnapping the little child of Adam Avery and wife here last November. The father, who was first arrested, as under suspicion of having to do with the disappearance of the child, located the woman in Martinsville and brought about her arrest. She secured the child by going to the Avery home where the little child had been left by the mother with a small girl. The latter she sent away on an errand and when she returned the woman and the child were gone. Some time ago a negro woman named Lizzie Burnett, alias "Rev. Mack," was arrested in Greensboro on the same charge, but it developed that she was not the right person. Avery kept on the lookout, however, and now he has landed a different woman in Virginia.

Forfeited Bond.

In Municipal Court yesterday morning Myrtle Wall, alias Myrtle Simons, failed to appear and her bond of $25 was declared forfeited. She was charged with vagrancy. In the cases against Market men judgment in the cases against J. C. Olive and R. Robertson was continued, while the case against Schlosser & Son was nol prossed.

Sale of fire-damaged goods also unredeemed pledges. Don't fail to read our ad. J. Oppleman & Son.

PROF. CONN BLAMES FLEAS

Believes They Cause Spread of Infantile Paralysis.

Middletown, Conn., Jan. 20.—That the spread of infantile paralysis may have been due to fleas or some other blood-sucking insects carried in the hair of cats or dogs is the statement made in a report which has been prepared for the State Board of Health by Prof. Herbert W. Conn, head of the biological department of Wesleyan University, who has been investigating an epidemic of the disease which prevailed recently in Middlesex county.

He says his investigations indicate that the spread of the malady was probably not accomplished through milk, water or fruit.

"All of the facts," says the report, "would be explained upon the assumption that a few fleas may have become infected from one or two original cases and that these few fleas scattered themselves over the localities, being carried to and fro upon the skin of animals and that some of them afterward had an opportunity to get upon children and bite them, thus producing the disease."

GOLD RING IN HEN EGG

The Great American Hen Does a New Stunt by Laying An Egg With a Ring In It.

That is the seeming miracle that Mr. T. G. Lowe, salesman for the Wall Mercantile Company, says is vouched for to him by unimpeachable authority.

The other day Mr. R. H. Poindexter, of the city water works bought some eggs from the Wall Mercantile Company. Mr. Lowe was the salesman who waited on him. Yesterday Mr. Poindexter was in the store and told Mr. Lowe that Mrs. Poindexter in breaking one of the eggs was astounded to see a gold ring drop out of the shell along with the usual contents of an egg shell.

"This is a true story—there's no doubt in the world about it," said Mr. Lowe. "No, it is not a scheme of Wall Mercantile Company to sell a big lot of eggs," he added. "Naturally we can't promise to purchasers of our eggs any repetitions of Mrs. Poindexter's experience."

Christian Endeavor Meeting.

Harper, of Elon College, president; Miss Florence Ledbetter Greensboro, secretary; Miss Mamie Bays, Charlotte, treasurer; Mr. E. H. Stockton, Winston-Salem, and Rev. A. G. Dixon, High Point.

Young Murray Goes Home To Recuperate.

Frank Murray, the young man who in a moment of despondency swallowed laudanum day before yesterday, was yesterday morning not much the worse for his experience except that he was very weak. His father, who lives in Burlington, came for him and carried him to his home to recuperate and get a fresh hold on life.

SECOND VOLUME ON "PREPARING THE TEACHER."

Instructive Book of Christian Convention Just From Press.

Elon College, Jan. 20.—Rev. McDaniel Howsare, pastor Memorial Christian Temple, Norfolk, Va., has been invited to conduct the revival services in the college, beginning with the fourth Sunday in this month. Mr. Howsare has accepted the invitation and will be domiciled in the West Dormitory, where he will be readily accessible to students and in intimate contact with student life.

The second volume of Preparing the Teacher, which is edited by Profs. Harper, Lawrence and Wicker, has just made its appearance from the press, and is now ready for distribution. The volume contains 256 pages and is divided into 10 chapters. These chapters deal with the Teacher, the Pupil, the Sunday School, the Bible as Literature, Biblical doctrine, Christian Giving, Private Biblical Antiquities, Missions, and the History of the Christian Church. The contributors to the volume besides the three editors are Dr. J. O. Atkinson, Dr. J. U. Newman, Rev. A. W. Andes, Rev. G. O. Langford, Dr. M. T. Morrill, and Mr. W. E. McClenny. These gentlemen are specialists in their various fields and have given to the volume the result of ripe and mature study, and thorough investigation. This book completes the standard advanced Teacher Training courses, authorized by the Southern Christian Convention. The first volume which appeared a year ago, met with a ready market, and is now being used in many of the Teacher Training courses of the Christian church, North, South, East and West. The second volume comes up to the standard, if it does not exceed the first volume and merits, as it will no doubt receive, a hearty reception on the part of the church constituency, for which it has been especially and designedly written.

Jan. 16th was the last day of grace for the handing in of subjects for commencement essays and orations, both by seniors and society representatives. This was also the final day for the handing in of subjects for graduating these in the various departments, by the members of the senior class. The class this year being large, there will be representatives to speak for them at commencement.

HEARING THIS MORNING.

C. M. Edwards Will Be Arraigned Before Justice of the Peace Collins.

Mr. C. M. Edwards, who was arrested in Raleigh Thursday, will be given a hearing this morning before Justice of the Peace D. H. Collins on the charge of criminally assaulting the six-year old daughter of Mr. C. E. McLean. Col. J. A. Barringer has been retained by the prosecutor, while Messrs. Stern and Swift represent the defendant.

The hearing will occur at 10 o'clock unless Col. Barringer is compelled to be in Superior court at that time. A number of witnesses will be on hand and the case will probably take up some little time. Mr. McLean still contends that Edwards is the right man, while the defendant says he will have no trouble in showing that he was in Fuqua Springs on the date the crime was committed. Mr. Swift was in Fuqua Springs yesterday to summon witnesses to testify to Edwards' innocense.

There is considerable interest in the hearing. A number of people believe that the right man has been captured, while others are somewhat in doubt as to the identity of the guilty person.

A Business Change.

The firm of Adams & Hunt which has done a plumbing and heating business here for a number of years was dissolved yesterday. Mr. Adams disposed of his interest to J. M. Hunt and H. W. Hunt, who will conduct the business at the same stand on West Washington street under the firm name of Hunt Bros.

DIABETES

We have the following unsolicited letter from James T. Douglas, Harrisburg, Oregon:

Harrisburg, Oregon, June 25, 1908.
John J. Fulton Co., Oakland, Cal.

Gentlemen: I have had Diabetes for over two years and was almost in. Was very weak and could hardly walk. A friend of mine told me of the Fulton Diabetic Compound, and I have now taken thirty bottles and am feeling fine, and can say that I am sure if I had not gotten relief in some way I would now have been under the sod. Hence, I can speak for your compound. It did the work for me. What will you charge me for three dozen?

Yours respectfully,
JAMES T. DOUGLAS.

Another—Same mail brought a letter from R. B. Fickling, the druggist in Shookville, N. C., from which we quote: "I have had a customer who had Diabetes in its worst stages. I have gotten him out of bed on the Diabetes Compound and have run out. Send duplicate of last order."

Diabetes is rated the world over as incurable, but recoveries are being reported daily through Fulton's Diabetic Compound. You may ask how it is possible for a person to recover under the Fulton treatment when medical text books admit they have nothing for it.

Let us say in reply, that when the late John J. Fulton discovered he had Bright's Disease and that the text books said no specific for inflammation of the kidneys, which, was the real difficulty, he set out in a new direction to evolve an emollient that would reduce inflammation in the kidney tissues. He worked it out and inflammation of the kidneys all along the line from kidney trouble to Bright's Disease, even in the chronic forms, is now curable in about eighty-seven per cent of all cases.

Diabetics took it upon the theory that as Diabetes is an impairment of functions that are closely related to the urinary processes, it ought to get results in that trouble, too.

It did, but much more slowly than in distinct kidney trouble. This led to a modification of the treatment for Diabetics, with the result that Diabetes is also curable in nearly nine-tenths of all cases in people of middle age and upward. (Kidney disease commonly responds in all ages.)

For Kidney Disease, ask for Fulton's Renal Compound.

For Diabetes, ask for Fulton's Diabetic Compound.

Patients whose cases do not respond are requested to write John J. Fulton Co., 645 Battery St., San Francisco, Cal.

WALKS, UNAWARE NECK IS BROKEN

Young Mr. Strube Slipped on Ice, but Thought He Only Strained Muscles.

New York Herald.

Only after suffering for three weeks with what he believed to be merely a stiff neck, has George Strube, of No. 254 Palisade avenue, Union Hill, been informed by surgeons at the Orthopaedic Hospital, No. 126 East Fifty-ninth street, Manhattan, that his neck is broken. They added that, according to the best known medical authorities, he should have died the moment he received the injury. Instead, the young man is able to walk leisurely about the streets and on Tuesday evening he took a trolley ride. Those who have charge of his case are not without hope that a complete recovery will be effected.

Mr. Strube is nineteen years old and is more than six feet tall. He weighs about 140 pounds. His growth was so rapid that, as often happens in similar circumstances, medical men say, his spinal column was affected. It became peculiarly subject to luxations or slidings of the vertebrae. Two years ago he went to the Orthopaedic Hospital, where Dr. H. J. Bogardus, of No. 427 Bergen avenue, Jersey City, is in charge of the clinic. Dr. Bogardus treated him until eight weeks ago for curvature of the spine.

A month after the young man had ben permitted to remove the brace, which he had worn for two years, he slipped on the ice. In trying to save himself from falling he threw back his head and immediately felt a slight pain in his throat. Supposing it to be an ordinary strain of the muscles of the neck, he thought little of it, although he was unable to work. A week ago he decided to consult Dr. Bogardus, and then discovery was made of his peculiar condition. A hyphos, or knckle of bone, plainly could be felt protruding from his neck. Dr. E. W. Caldwell made an X-ray photograph showing a fracture of the odontoid process. The highest medical authorities agree that a fracture of the odontoid process causes instant death.

The young man's head, neck and shoulders were put in a brace that permits a movement of the upper spinal bones. He can swallow no solids. The case is so unusual that Dr. Bogardus called it to the attention of the members of the Physicians and Surgeons Club of Jersey City. The patient went alone to the meeting place.

WHERE HUMAN MOLES MAKE THEIR HOMES.

Veritable Cave Dwellers Live in the Desert In Southern Part of Tunis.

In the southern part of Tunis and extending away to the Sahara desert still live a race of men who carve their dwellings from rocks, veritable cave dwellers, the Spokane, (Wash.) Spokesman-Review. Their land is an elevated plateau, rolling, barren, scorched by burning suns and swept by the hot winds of the north of Africa. And yet the capital city—if such it can be called—of these people contains three thousand souls.

Traversing the streets of this desert metropolis, the visiting tourist will do well to keep a wary eye, lest suddenly he find himself precipitated from the level of the plateau—which, of course, forms the roofs of the troglodyte city—to the inner court of some cave dweller's home, for, not unlike the moles of our meadows, these strange people have burrowed deep into the rock wherever they have found a place that seemed suitable for their subterranean dwellings.

This is the mode of house construction among the cave dwellers of Tunis. A site is first selected which seems to permit of easy excavation and at the same time offers stratifications of harder rock of sufficient durability to insure the cave man that his house will not tumble down about his ears. A trench or pit is then excavated to the desired depth, perhaps thirty or forty feet, one end of which is left sloping at an angle to permit easy exit.

Into the perpendicular walls of this pit the cave man digs, hollowing out chambers of such size as his fancy and the needs of his household dictate. The rooms at the lowest level he will use for the general purposes of domestic life, for stables for his camels and for granaries; tunneling upward, he will hollow out chambers at a second grade to be used as sleeping rooms. Perhaps a shaft for light and air may connect with the level of the ground above and afford an upper exit.

The smooth surface of the outer wall of the excavation permits of adornment varying with the aesthetic taste and artistic skill of the builder. The furniture of each room is designed especially for it and is executed on the spot from the living stone.

Mr. A. G. Coffin says that when he went home Saturday night that he thought, and all his people thought, that he had pneumonia. He rubbed a box of Mother's Joy on his chest, as directed, and went to sleep, and he says the next morning he was entirely well. And he fully believes it broke up a case of pneumonia. All who doubt this will ask Mr. Coffin. For sale by Conyers & Sykes.

MARK TWAIN

1/2 Price

A New Edition

Now for the first time you get a complete set of all Mark Twain's writings at just exactly one-half the price they have ever been sold before. This is a new edition, just as complete as the old one, which still sells, by the way, at $50.00. This new edition is only $25.00—for the 25 volumes.

It had been Mark Twain's ambition to have his books in every American home, and he made a great personal sacrifice to bring about this remarkable opportunity—for the first time in the history of publishing, copyrighted books are sold at the price of non-copyrighted books—the chance will not come again.

But for Mark Twain's action this would have been impossible. Never before has a copyrighted library set of a standard author's works been issued at such a low figure.

His Complete Works— 25 Beautiful Volumes

Brander Matthews says: "Mark Twain will be included in that group of writers headed by Molière and Cervantes. With the exception of Count Tolstoi, Twain was the greatest of recent modern writers, and will be handed down to posterity through the trio of his works 'Huckleberry Finn,' 'Tom Sawyer,' and 'Pudd'nhead Wilson.' Twain is a greater stylist than Stevenson or Thoreau, and his 'Man that Corrupted Hadleyburg' is one of the finest works in English literature." Mark Twain himself wrote a preface to this edition. Brander Matthews has written the biographical criticism of Mark Twain and his work. There are portraits of the author at periods when the different books were in process of writing.

There are beautiful pictures by such artists as Frost, Newell, Smedley, Thulstrup, Clinedinst, Kemble, and Opper. The binding is in rich red rep silk book cloth, with title labels stamped in gold. The books are printed on white antique wove paper, especially made for this edition. Each volume is of generous size and bulk, 5x8¼ inches.

OLD LONDON LEGEND.

The Church That Stands In the Field of Forty Footsteps.

The church in Woburn square, London, is said to occupy the site of the "Field of Forty Footsteps," to which a tragic legend attaches. The story dates from the days of Monmouth's rebellion. According to the version given in Mr. J. S. Ogilvy's "Relics and Memorials of London Town," two brothers fell in love with a woman who, either from callous vanity or fearing reprisals from the unsuccessful suitor, would not say which was to be the favored swain, suggesting that they should fight a duel and to the victor she would give her charms. They came from the town to this suburban field. The woman calmly sat down to await events. She had not long to wait, judging from the number of footprints, when one of the brothers fell dead, and as the victor approached she held out her arms to greet him, when, with a sudden revulsion of feeling for his brother's death, he slew her as she stood, and, turning the weapon, he drove it through his own heart. So they were found stiff in death with the footprints stamped in the wet clay, where they remained indelible through summer heat and winter frost; no green thing would grow, nor any man build himself a dwelling there. Streets were erected all round, but it was not until the nineteenth century that men took heart of grace and built a church there, when the consecration of the ground rolled back the curse and the memory of the legend grew faint and faded away.

DOWN THE BACK OF HIS HEAD

A Parting of the Hair From Which We've Partly Parted.

What has become of our well known fellow townsman that used to brush his hair two ways from a line extending from crown to collar and swing the ends over his ears? He was a leading citizen. He sat in the next pew in front at church and always attended the shows. He worked in a bank in St. Louis and was mate on one of the Mississippi river steamboats. He was a floorwalker in a New York dry goods store and kept a saloon just off the main street. Usually he wore a cluster of diamonds with a little chain attached in his shirt front. He was a conductor on the day express, a Mason and an Odd Fellow. He practiced medicine and worked in the boot and shoe store. He had been to California and played cards for money.

Well, he's still in town, although greatly changed. It was all the barber's fault. When he was in his prime and known to everybody the barber used to trim hair. Later he began to cut it. It wasn't long before our well known fellow citizen was nipped by the shears, his locks curled on the calico pinned around his neck and rolled to the floor, and there wasn't anything to part. When the barber's ruthless shears cut their way to the very scalp they killed a famous pomade customer, for the man that parted his hair behind always stood (or sat) for the things in the bottles which cost 10 cents extra.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A Compliment For Him.

She was eighteen and very shy, and she never had been in the city before. There was no one at Broad street station to meet her, and she looked about timidly for a cab. Her mother had told her to take a hansom. She did not see any hansom, nor did she know that the "cabbies" wore a livery all their own. She did not see a policeman either, so she approached a youth who was standing on the corner of Fifteenth street with her bashful question.

"Please," she began, "are you a hansom man?"

The youth raised his hand and twirled his mustache ingratiatingly, smiling with deprecating assumption of modesty.

"I am so considered," he replied.—Philadelphia Times.

Hunger From the Liver.

Hunger, appetite, does not start from the stomach, as all believe and as you all feel when hungered, but the call for food really comes from the fleshes of the whole body, mostly from the liver, it seems, for people who have had to have their stomachs taken entirely from their body still have the absent old stomach growl and yell three times a day for meals, something like people having finger pains and pleasures in a hand that has been cut off for years.—New York Press.

A Stone's Throw.

"The ancient Romans had a catapult that could hurl rocks more than a mile."

"Now I understand it."

"What?"

"My landlord told me this house was a stone's throw from the depot. He must have had it on his hands since the time of the Caesars."—Cleveland Leader.

Cleverness and Cunning.

Cleverness and cunning are incompatible. I never saw them united. The latter is the resource of the weak and is only natural to them. Children and fools are always cunning, but clever people never.—Byron.

Some Balm.

"Duke, I'm sorry," said the millionaire, "but my daughter can't marry you."

"Then I have loved in vain?"

"Not wholly, duke. Here's $50 for you."

The first years of man must make provision for the last.—Johnson.

Armour & Company show an earning of only 6 1-2 per cent. on a capital of $93,983,213. Must have been glorious days for the stockholders who made the investment.

The Legislature didn't think much of the anti-lobbying bill, looking upon it somewhat in the light of an order of court requiring them to keep the peace.

A New Yorker wants his commonwealth divided into two states, and reminds the New York World that another bill should be presented to Congress for the accomplishment of this end. It would seem that Chas. F. Murphy may get the honor of the achievement without a need of resorting to legislation.

Some of the papers are blaming Mr. Taft for appointing for a fourth term Mr. A. E. Holton to the district attorneyship for Western North Carolina. But Mr. Taft could not very well appoint any more Democrats during this term and remain gracefully on his job.

North Carolina increased in population more rapidly than did Virginia during the past decade. And in the face, too, of the fact that we sent her so many of the very flower of the soil. But we shall need our people at home hereafter, and she will have to look out for herself.

The census shows that in North Carolina the country people did not move rapidly toward the city during the past decade. And yet in some instances the cities outgrew the counties in population; which is due, of course, to the fact that these cities traveled so fast as to make it unnecessary for the farmer to leave home.

Mr. Hobson says that in stress of war the stronger nation always sets treaties and international law at naught. This is decidedly open to question. But, fortunately, it is true that personal hobbies often meet with a similar fate where a nation is interested in weightier matters than that of manufacturing clouds to make it rain.

The selection of Mr. Paul W. Schenck as president of the Guilford Battle Ground Company to succeed the late Maj. Jos. M. Morehead was very appropriate. It seems especially fitting and a happy consummation that the son of the organizer of the Battle Ground Company, the late Judge Schenck, should be placed at the head of its affairs. In the business world Mr. Schenck has shown talent of a high order and it is not to be doubted that this talent will stand him in good stead as the president of the Battle Ground Company. Maj. Morehead set a pace that all of his successors will find hard, perhaps impossible, to maintain, but President Schenck will give a good account of himself.

AN EXTRA SESSION.

When representatives are elected to Congress in November they must wait about thirteen months before they are permitted to enter upon their actual duties as lawmakers. This means that the Democratic majority chosen by the people to remedy the tariff evils will not have a chance to render combined assistance in the urgent and extremely important work for which they were chosen until next December.

For this reason the movement now agitated for a new law providing for the convening of a new Congress in December immediately following the elections in November should meet with the hearty approval and co-operation of all leaders of both parties.

In England it requires only two months after a parliament is dissolved to hold an election and assemble a new parliament, ready for business. But with us, there is no alternative, even after the people have spoken in no uncertain terms against existing conditions, but to continue for another year, at least, to suffer the abuses resulting from the Payne-Aldrich tariff law—unless President Taft should hearken to the demands which are already being made for an extra session of Congress. So far, this demand has seemingly made little impression on the mind of the President, but if there is hope for relief from the lowering of present tariff duties, he should be able to see that nothing will be gained for himself or his party by delaying.

If the people are wrong, he should be willing to assist them in finding it out before the next Presidential campaign; if they are right, it is his duty, as their representative, to hasten to their relief.

Horrors of Bokhara.

The terrible deeds that once made Bokhara a byword are now prohibited by the Russian government. Prisoners are not permitted, for instance, to be dragged through the streets by galloping horses. Nor are they thrown from the top of the high tower called the Minar Katan. This was the usual punishment meted out to evildoers in the old days. Watched by thousands of spectators, the poor wretches were flung from that giddy height on to the flagstones beneath.

Bokhara has many chambers of horrors, unwholesome for western eyes to see and the description of which would certainly be unfit for publication. Perhaps the most horrible of these is a pit where prisoners were tortured by vermin, which were so numerous and ravenous that in the absence of human prey they were fed on chunks of raw meat.—Wide World Magazine.

Disraeli and Goldwin Smith.

It may have been partly by suspicion of my possession of an unpleasant secret that Disraeli was moved to follow me across the Atlantic and try, as he did in "Lothair," to brand me as "a social sycophant." His knowledge of my social character was not great, for I had only once met him in society. His allusion to the "Oxford professor" who was going to the United States was as transparent as if he had used my name. Had I been in England, where my character was known, I should have let the attack pass, but I was in a strange country, where, made by a man of note, the attack was likely to tell. I therefore gave Disraeli the lie, and neither he nor any of his organs ever ventured to repeat the calumny.—Goldwin Smith in McClure's.

The Thimble.

About 200 years ago a London goldsmith called Trotting made and presented to the lady of his heart on her birthday anniversary a thimble of gold, beautifully ornamented and chased, accompanied by a note which introduced the little contraption as a "token of my humble esteem which shall protect those delicate, fair and industrious dingers from prick and scar of needle head." That was the origin of the thimble.

Fate of a Duchess.

We have had excellent morals drawn from the substantial waist of the Venus of Milo for the admonition of the fashionable woman. But what can we say about the Duchesse de Mazarin, who (G. Duval tells us in "Shadows of Old Paris") "died in 1775 from tight lacing, although she had posed for a statue of Venus?"

A Matter of Looks.

All Alike.

The following entry appears in the "visitors' book" of a hotel in Germany: "The living here is good, plain and substantial. So is the waitress."

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all the other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

OPPORTUNITY.

They do me wrong who say I come no more,
When once I knock and fail to find you in;
For every day I stand outside your door,
And bid you wake, and rise to fight and win.

Wail not for precious chances passed away
Weep not for golden ages on the wane!
Each night I burn the records of the day:
At sunrise every soul is born again.

Laugh like a boy at splendors that have sped,
To banish joys be blind and deaf and dumb
My judgment seal the dead passed with its dead,
But never blind a moment yet to come.

Though deep in mire, wring not your hands and weep
I lend my arm to all who say "I can."
No shamefaced outcast ever sank so deep
But yet might rise and be again a man.

Art thou a sinner? Sins may be forgiven!
Each morning gives thee wings to flee from hell,
Each night a star to guide thy feet to heaven.

—Walter Malone.

Antique Safety Pins.

New York Herald.

A special cable despatch to the Herald this morning announces the finding of safety pins more than two thousand years old in excavations at Colchester, about fifty miles from London.

Many antiquities of artistic value have been unearthed at Colchester, which occupies the site of the Roman settlement of Camulodunum, founded by Claudius. But safety pins! Is there really anything new under the sun?

COL. LEE EXTOLS SOUTH

Daughters of Confederacy Hear Great General's Grandson.

Baltimore Sun.

Col. Robert E. Lee, of Washington, grandson of the great commander, was the orator at the annual meeting yesterday afternoon at Lehmann's hall of the Daughters of the Confederacy. The occasion was also the commemoration of the birthday of General Lee.

Tall and heavily built, with the eyes and other facial characteristics of his illustrious forbear, Colonel Lee was a striking reminder to many of those present who had met "Marse Bob," the Confederate leader.

A big man physically, he has a deep voice, which he uses effectively in a delivery as vigorous and fiery as the spirit of the Old South. Some of those who attended yesterday had heard him speak at Confederate reunions, for he is in demand at all such gatherings.

There are not many survivors of the Lee family. General Lee's eldest son, G. W. Custis Lee, is now living in Virginia. His eldest daughter, Mary Custis Lee, is in Cairo, and his youngest son, Capt. Robert E. Lee, is in Washington. Colonel Lee's father was W. H. F. Lee, known as Rooney Lee to his comrades. There is another son of W. H. F. Lee—Dr. G. B. Lee, who is living in Virginia.

Colonel Lee is an attorney. His home is in Virginia, just across the Potomac. He has an office at the capital. He has been a deep student of the Confederate cause and while he was only 2 years old when his grandfather died, he has an intimate knowledge of all of the events of his life as they have been preserved in various ways by the family.

He arrived at Union Station and was taken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Gresham, where he was their guest at luncheon. At the hall he was met by a delegation headed by Major William M. Pegram. His appearance was greeted with applause.

His subject was "The Confederate Soldier." He said the type was the grandest and greatest in the history of the warfare of the world. In the beginning he said:

"There is hardly need to speak of the part which Maryland took in that great struggle. Your city has a monument erected to the Confederate soldier and the pages of the history of the war are sprinkled with the names of Maryland men."

He then gave a resume of the principal events of the war and when centioning the death of Stonewall Jackson said that he believed, had Jackson lived, the war would not have ended as it did. He spoke also of the greater numerical strength of the Federal troops and declared that the Confederates had many times defeated the Federal forces before the latter outnumbered them.

Speaking of the horrors of the Reconstruction, he extolled the many virtues of the women of the Confederacy and spoke feelingly of the brave sacrifices which had been made by women of the South.

"But with the war over," he concluded, "with all our land under one flag, the South is now attracting the attention of the world. It has had a terrible burden to carry and the rest of the country should keep hands off and tongues quiet until the South solves its own problems.

"Industries are flourishing all over the South. The people of that section will always battle to preserve the superiority of the Anglo-Saxon and to keep the white blood from any taint. The South has struggled manfully and has done well."

The Title "Esquire."

The title "esquire" is derived from the French word ecuyer (a shield bearer) and originated in the old days of chivalry, when, as is well known, each knight appointed one or more persons of gentle birth to carry his shield and perform other honorable services. These persons were known as squires, or, more accurately, esquires, and were of such birth as would permit of their being in their turn created knights when they should have merited the distinction by deeds of valor or otherwise. In the reign of Richard II. the status of an esquire was granted for the first time by letters patent as a title of honor merely, no duties being attached. This method of creation is now obsolete, but it marks an advanced stage in the decay of chivalry, which decay resulted in the titles "knight" and "esquire" becoming wholly honorary.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Red Tape and Matrimony.

Some of the reasons why a Frenchman may not marry are given by a correspondent of a Paris newspaper. He has been trying to get married for three years and has not yet succeeded. French marriage law is a tricky thing to deal with. If the prospective bridegroom has not lived more than six months at his address at the time of the marriage he must get a certificate signed by the landlord and concierge of every house where he has lived previously till he gets back to one where he did live for six months. Birth certificates are required and the written consent of parents.

As no paper must bear a date more than two months old, it often happens that the marriage must be postponed to get the papers renewed. The man who had been foiled for three years once succeeded in making all his papers correct, when he was called up for his periodical term of military service, and this threw his papers out of order.

At another time he arrived before the mayor with his bride, but the ceremony was not performed, as a certificate of his first wife's death was not forthcoming.

Fascination of the Third Rail.

"You can talk all you want about the way some people want to jump off tall buildings, but the men who walk the elevated tracks can sympathize with them," said a man the other day whose business it is to work along the elevated railroad lines and see that everything is in good condition.

"Trackwalkers often have the same impulse to step on the third rail that climbers have to jump. You walk along and see that shining rod of steel and watch the sunlight glisten on it, and then the thought comes to you, 'If I step on that it will kill me,' and then you wonder how it would feel to just put your toe on it. Of course a fellow shakes those ideas off his mind, but they keep coming back, and I have known more than one man who has quit his job because he was afraid that he couldn't fight off much longer the impulse to stand on the track and put the other foot on the third rail, and when I hear of a trackwalker being killed by the third rail I wonder if the fascination of the third rail got the better of him."—New York Sun.

NOVEL MASSAGE CREAM

Perfect Skin Food That Removes Wrinkles and Clears Complexion.

The most delicate skin will quickly respond to the soothing and tonic effect of Hokara, and when this pure skin food is used, pimples are soon a thing of the past.

As a massage cream or after shaving it is unequaled, removing all irritations, and making the skin soft and velvety.

Apply a little to the hands or face after washing and surprise yourself with the dead skin that comes off.

Hokara is the only massage cream that is an antiseptic, and pimples, eczema, and all skin blemishes soon disappear when it is used.

Although far superior to the ordinary massage creams and sold on a guarantee of "best you ever used or money back," yet the price is a trifle, only 25c. for a liberal jar; larger size 50c.

Sold on guarantee by Howard Gardner.

TESTIMONIAL.

I wish to state for the benefit of anyone suffering from eczema, that I had eczema on my hand for some time and could find nothing that would cure it until I used Hokara. One 25c jar entirely cured me. Wm. Nichols, 621 1-2 Central Ave., Ft. Dodge, Iowa.

DIVING FOR GOLD TAKES THREE MEN TO SOUTHERN SEA.

New York World.

Three young treasure hunters from Boston will leave the basin of Ulmer Park, Brooklyn, this forenoon in the schooner yacht Seneca and start for the West Indies to find Spanish doubloons that have lain on the ocean bottom for 300 years.

Demarest Lloyd, a Harvard graduate, is the leader of the expedition. He bought the Seneca less than a month ago from George Mercer, Jr., and had her removed to the basin, where she was fitted out.

Lloyd's companions are John B. Fallon, treasurer of a spice firm of Boston, and Arthur Coombs, formerly in the automobile business in this city. Capt. Summers and a crew of seven will handle the vessel, which is provisioned for a three months' cruise.

Lloyd would not admit yesterday that he and his companions were on a treasure-hunting trip, but a reporter for The World was informed that among the stores aboard the Seneca were a diving bell and several divers' suits with the necessary airpumps.

The fact that the cruise might be hazardous was made clear when John T. Cole, formerly a professor of astronomy at Harvard, who was to be a member of the party, decided yesterday he would not go. Cole is an expert navigator. He came to the basin and boarded the Seneca with his instruments, but suddenly decided he preferred to remain behind. He had been enthusiastic about the trip. He explained to Lloyd that his mother feared the vessel might be wrecked.

Mrs. Cole sailed yesterday for Bermuda and Lloyd offered to stop there on the way south, so that Cole could see his mother. But the astronomer declined the offer and left the yacht. He will sail for Bermuda today on the liner Oceana.

"I don't care to discuss that treasure-seeking story," said Lloyd to a reporter for The World. "We are just going South for a three months' cruise and intend to enjoy a little shooting and fishing on the side. As for the other yarn that we are on a filibustering expedition, just remember there are no revolutions in any of the places where we will call.

"Now that Cole has quit we will go direct to Porto Rico, then to Martinique and thence to Barbados, touching at Santiago and Havana on our way back. That itinerary is only problematical, and we may change our minds when we get South. I understand Cole refused four positions as instructor in astronomy in order to accompany us. Why he backed out at the last minute is a mystery.'

Cole told the reporter that he did not care to discuss the purpose of the trip now that he had decided to stay behind.

Demarest Lloyd figured in the Bermuda race last year, when his schooner Shivessa was defeated by Harold Vanderbilt's Vagrant by only twenty-five minutes.

She was very weak and had night sweats but your wonderful medicine completely cured us both. It's the best I ever used or heard of." It suited my case as though made just for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice and to rid the system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bitters has no equal. Try them. The Ancient Use of a Kiss.

A Roman woman in the ancient time was not allowed to drink wine except it were simple raisin wine, and however she might relish strong drinks she could not indulge even by stealth—first, because she was never intrusted with the key of the wine cellar and, second, because she was obliged daily to greet with a kiss all her own as well as her husband's male representatives, down even to second cousins, and as she knew not when or where she might meet them she was forced to be wary and abstain altogether, for had she tasted but a drop the smell would have betrayed her. So strict were the old Romans in this respect that a certain Ignatius Mercurius is said to have slain his wife because he caught her at the wine cask—a punishment which was not deemed excessive by Romulus, who absolved the husband of the crime of murder. Another Roman lady who under the pretense of taking a little wine for her stomach's sake and frequent infirmities indulged somewhat too freely was mulcted to the full amount of her dowry.

Among the Honors.

One of the last times that Bishop Burgess of Long Island dined out was at the Press club, where the waiters are all negroes. The head waiter bowed Bishop Burgess and his host profusely to their places. "This way, adm'ral," said he. "Tek this table. You get a bettah view of the harbor heah, adm'ral."

"I am not an admiral," said Bishop Burgess, smiling.

"My mistek, suh," said the head waiter. "Ah mout er known all the time I was er talkin' to a military man. You like dis table, colonel?"

"I am not a colonel," said Bishop Burgess, smiling more broadly. "I am a bishop."

"To be shuah, suh," said the head waiter. "To-o be shuah! Ve'y sorry for mah mistek, suh. I got dem titles of adm'ral and colonel wrong, suh, but Ah was all right on de main issue. Ah knowed soon as Ah saw you dat you was one of de face cards of your profession, suh."—Cincinnati Times-Star.

"But you mustn't mention it to a living soul. Suppose you were a young girl of my age and three men had proposed to you, one of them a young preacher, fine looking and well educated, the second one a handsome young man in business, swell dresser and thinking the world of you, and the third a rich foreigner with a distinguished air about him and well spoken of by everybody. Which of the three do you think would make the best husband?"

"Why, Annabel, child, consult your own heart. Which of the three do you love best?"

"Mercy, Uncle Henry! Nobody's proposed to me yet. I'm only trying to get pointers, so I'll know the right man when he comes along."—Chicago Tribune.

"You advise that man's constituents to stand by him?"

"Yep," replied Farmer Corntossel "I advise 'em to stand by close enough to watch everything he does."—Washington Star.

APPEARING OLD

Acts as a Bar to Profitable Employment.

You cannot afford to grow old.

In these days of strenuous competition it is necessary to maintain, as long as possible ones youthful appearance.

It is impossible to do this without retaining a luxurious growth of hair.

The presence of Dandruff indicates the presence of a burrowing germ which lives and thrives on the roots of the hair until it causes total baldness.

Newbro's Herpicide is the only known destroyer of this pest, and it is as effective as it is delightful to use

Accept no substitute—there is none.

GOOSE IS A BIRD NOT A COW OR COAT

Tremendous Problem Settled by Trustees of Ossining Village and Joy is Great.

New York World.

Not since the village trustees of Ossining resigned the name of Sing Sing to the exclusive use of the prison have they held so important a meeting as that of this week. Stern-faced men lined the streets for hours waiting for news of the deliberations.

Is a gose a bird or an animal? That was the first problem that had to be solved. An ordinance forbids "geese or other animals" to roam the streets, and the trustees have grown tired of fun being poked at them about it. A cheer came from the villagers outside when they heard that hereafter the ordinance will apply to quadrupeds alone.

Then the trustees took up the speed ordinance, and after an hour's debate fixed a penalty for driving horses faster than fifteen miles an hour. The villagers, considering that a cold molasses pace, scowled at this news, but when word came that a committee would report at the next meeting on an ordinance making it a misdemeanor for a woman to wear hatpins projecting more than half an inch beyond the crown, the villagers gave up the night to revels. The trustees expect to be able to hold another meeting in February.

Old Soldier Tortured.

"For years I sufferd unspeakable torture from indigestion, constipation and liver trouble," wrote A. K. Smith, a war veteran at Erie, Pa., "but Dr. Kings' New Life Pills fixed me all right. They are simply great." Try them for any stomach, liver or kidney trouble. Only 25c. at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY PILLS

Are tonic in action, quick in results. A special medicine for all kidney and bladder disorders. Mary C. Abbott, Wolfeboro, N. H., says: "I was afflicted with a bad case of rheumatism, due to uric acid that my kidneys failed to clear out of my blood. I was so lame in my feet, joints, and back that it was agony for me to step. I used Foley's Kidney Pills for three days when I was able to get up and move about and the pains were all gone. This great change in condition I owe to Foley's Kidney Pills and recommend them to anyone suffering as I have." Howard Gardner.

A Resourceful Community.

"We didn't know what to do about Piute Pete," said the Crimson Gulch citizen. "He was a real good feller, but he would be careless about shootin' up the populace."

"Did you straighten out the matter?"

IN A RAILWAY SMASHUP.

The Proper Thing to Do if You Have Time Enough.

If you were a passenger on a railroad train that collided with another, jumped the track, ran into an open switch or fell a victim to any of the other misfortunes that railroad trains are heir to, what would you do or what do you think you would do?

A writer in an engineering journal, after describing from his personal observation what most passengers do in such times of stress and peril—that is, "stand up and howl"—gives what he calls sound advice, which is simply "to drop upon the floor, preferably in the aisle, or cling to the seat frame."

That advice is not only sound, but simple. The trouble, however, is that not one person in ten can tell with any degree of certainty to what extent the same kind of mental demoralization that causes the volunteeer fireman to throw mirrors out of the window and tenderly carry feather beds downstairs would possess him in such an emergency. The man who believes with absolute conviction that he would remain calm, cool and collected under all circumstances may be the very man who would make a mental aviation flight that would cause the records of the champion aeronauts to pale into insignificance.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

OKLAHOMA WOMEN HAVE PRIZE FIGHT.

Two of Them Battle for Six Rounds and the Referee Calls It a Draw.

Tulsa, Okla., Jan. 19.—Indignation is sweeping the State today as a result of a six-round prize fight fought here last night between Bess Martin, of Oklahoma City, and Nellie Bennett, of Chicago. Although both women fought a fast clip the referee declared it a draw, a decision that did not satisfy the 700 spectators, who applauded during the affray.

Many of the onlookers were women, who showed a surprising knowledge of pugilistic lingo, shouting to their respective favorites, "Put her out" and "Hand her a right uppercut."

In the first round Bess Martin started off with a rush, but in the second she contented herself with attempting to dodge the blows of her adversary. The third and fourth were about even, but in the fifth and sixth supporters of Nellie Bennett declared that she had a shade the better by reason of her knowledge of the Marquis of Queensberry's text book.

MISDEMEANOR TO SHIP LIVE QUAIL OUT OF STATE

Bill Remedying Defect of Audubon Law Passed by Legislature Yesterday.

In the legislature yesterday a bill remedying a defect in the Audubon law by making it a misdemeanor to ship live quail out of the state became a law, being passed in both Senate and House under suspended rules.

It appears that heretofore the secretary of the Audubon society was allowed to permit the shipment of quail outside the state for breeding purposes. Within the past few days it became known that no less than 36,000 live quail have been shipped from Guilford county alone by northern hunters who have preserves in the county. The law putting an end to the power of the secretary of the Audubon society to grant permits follows:

A bill to be entitled an act to prevent the shipment of live quail or partridges without the state of North Carolina.

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

Section 1. That it shall be unlawful for any person to catch, net or trap any quail or partridges for the purpose of shipping or transporting the same without the State of North Carolina.

Sec. 2. That it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to transport, or cause to be transported, or have possession of with intent to transport, or to secure the transportation of, any live quail or partridges beyond the limits of the State of North Carolina.

Sec. 3. That any person violating the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined or imprisoned in the discretion of the court.

Sec. 4. That all authority given the Audubon Society of North Carolina to grant permits to ship or transport live quail or partridges beyond the limits of the State is hereby repealed.

Sec. 5. That all laws and clauses of laws in conflict with this act are hereby repealed.

Sec. 6. That this act shall be in force from and after its ratification.

O. E. S. THIMBLE CLUB.

First Meeting of New Year Was Held Yesterday Afternoon.

The O. E. S. Thimble Club held their first meeting of the new year Friday afternoon. Mrs. Geo. Lampman and Mrs. B. D. Blackburn were the hostesses and their beautiful new home on Odell Place was the scene of one of the most delightful occasions in the history of the club. The hours passed rapidly as the ladies plied their shining needles and many beautiful pieces of fancywork were in evidence.

The club members present were Mesdames C. C. Dildine, J. C. Morris, N. D. Andrews, J. M. Johnson, L. M. Clymer, Misses Vallie Sanders, Ethel Lincoln, Lelia Pitts, Blanche and Eva Johnson and Bronna Clymer, while Mrs. Amos Andrews, of Plainfield, N. J.; Mrs. H. A. Cobb, of Providence, R. I., and Mrs. Packard, of Greensboro, were guests of the club.

Ulterior Motives.

"See, here," said the kind hearted lady, "I gave you a piece of pie two weeks ago, and you have been sending one or more of your friends here every day since."

"Youse do me a injustice, ma'am," replied the husky hobo. "Dem guys wot I sent wuz me enemies."—Chicago News.

estate amounted to about a Million Dollars. Of course he was intimate with many sound financial friends—but he went to a Trust Company and named it as his executor. Why? Because he thought he was going to die, why not his friends die, too, if he appointed them as trustees. He knew that a responsible Trust Company would never die, and that his estate would be properly and safely administered. Being a great lawyer the Chief Justice knew what might happen.
